An Evening of Poetry, Dance & Music

SJTC welcomes local legend Clyde A. Wray and friends to BMO Studio Theatre

SAINT JOHN – The SJTC is proud to welcome Clyde A. Wray and a host of local talent to the stage for the multi-media showcase Letters and Notes part of the 2017-2018 Canadian Stages Series of works. Letters and Notes, an original work by Clyde A. Wray, will be staged at BMO Studio Theatre, 112 Princess Street on April 13 and 14.

Canada  New Brunswick  BMO  Financial Group

The evening will be a blended showcase of poetry, music, dance and imagery performed and created by local talent. The show will feature Tim Turnell, Kelli Wray, Keltie Wray and of course Clyde A. Wray himself.

“Where there is anger there is compassion where there is love there is denial woven and somewhere in between it all a glimpse of humour resides. Poetry, music and love what else is there? Oh yes, don't forget to dance.” Clyde A. Wray

Clyde A. Wray is a poet, writer, performer and storyteller who resides in Saint John. His soothing voice has captivated audiences for years.

Tickets for Letters and Notes are $22.50 for adults and $15 for students and can be purchased by visiting www.ticketpro.ca or by calling 1-888-311-9090.

Support for Letters and Notes has been provided by Canadian Heritage, Province of New Brunswick, and BMO Financial Group.
